The Foxhunters Are Here

Too Many Dogs for Bill

A can of dog-biscuit wouldn't have lasted more than a second down at Lackland Springs Monday night. When anybody mentions a foxhunter's convention in this country everybody promptly picks up and goes. There must have been 500 dogs and a thousand men and women at Lackland Springs when the state meet opened Monday night.

Strange Planes Bomb Yugoslav City Tuesday

Raid Killed Two, Injures Five; Greeks Surround Italians

BELGRADE — (AP) — Three warplanes of unidentified nationality bombed the Yugoslav city of Bitolj near the Greek-Albanian war front Tuesday, killing two persons and wounding five, it was announced officially.

The announcement said that bombs hit the railway station, damaged a military building and the airport. It was understood that an emergency meeting of the Yugoslav cabinet was called in Belgrade to consider the situation.

Both Greece and Italy disclaimed any responsibility.

By the Associated Press
With Greece reported to be holding fast against Italy's invasion machine, Prime Minister Churchill pledged Britain's "utmost" aid to the little Aegion kingdom Tuesday, and served notice of impending British campaigns in "1943 and 44."

Churchill disclosed to the house of commons that the British death toll from the Rome-Berlin Axis air raids so far had reached 14,000 civilians and 300 soldiers.

Britain, he said, has more fear from the mounting U-boat campaign than from the aerial siege.

Greek quarters said that the Italian war machine had stalled all along the snow-banked mountain front in the nine-day-old Balkan conflict.

Defenders of the little Hellenic Kingdom had cut off 4,000 Fascist troops behind the lines, the Greek dispatches said, and had trapped 30,000 other Italian soldiers in at Koritzaz, key supply base in Albania.

Greek heavy artillery, firing from heights seized in fierce bayonet charges, was reported to be shelling the beleaguered city.

Yugoslavian dispatches said the civilian population was withdrawing.

England Heavily Bombed
BERLIN — (AP) — A night-long hail of more than 1,500 bombs "of all calibers" on London and hits on important targets from southern England to Scotland were reported by the German high command Tuesday.

London again was the main objective Monday night, the communiques said, but day and night attacks were also made through the British Isles "despite continued unfavorable weather."

Crow to Stay on State Board

Hope Chiropractor Remains as Secretary

LITTLE ROCK — Dr. F. C. Crow of Hope will not be removed as secretary of the state Board of Chiropractic Examiners, as requested last week by the Arkansas Basic Science Board, Governor Bailey announced Monday.

"I do not believe I have the power to remove Dr. Crow," the governor said, "because the statutes say a member of the board can be removed only for malpractice and failure to do his duty."

The effort of the Basic Science Board to oust Dr. Crow came to light when Louis B. Gebauer, secretary, charged in a letter to the governor.

Army of Dogs and Men Meet for Fox Hunt

Winners in Two Classes of Lackland Springs Bench Show

Five hundred fox-hounds, a thousand sportsmen, and a tent city, woke up the silence of the deep woods at Lackland Springs, east of Prescott, Monday night when the Arkansas State Fox Hunters association began its sixth annual hunt.

All day Monday automobiles hauling wire-screened trailers holding 10 to 15 dogs went through Prescott on their way to the camp ground. One sportsman, Leon Williams of Fort Smith, who owns the stockyard at Moffett, Okla., had 22 dogs in his trailer.

The annual state meet was opened Monday night with a formal speaking program, the bench show—and the first hunt started at daybreak Tuesday morning. The state meet runs through Thursday, with a hunt every morning.

Fox Hunt at Dawn
Hundreds of persons turn out for the dramatic early-dawn moment when the long line of dogs is cast loose for the fox chase. Because of the rain Tuesday morning the first hunt didn't get away until 7 a. m., but ordinarily the cast is made at 5 o'clock.

Monday's opening program was in charge of Homer Gentry of Prescott. The invocation was given by the Rev. E. J. Garrett, Prescott, Baptist pastor. Horace McKenzie of Prescott made the welcoming address; and Dr. Joe F. Suffield, Little Rock, president of the state association, responded with the main address. He introduced James A. Winn, Little Rock, one of the organizers of the association; and three past presidents: R. M. Ruthven, Mountain Home; Ed Harper, Camden; and Perry McNeill, North Little Rock.

Gov.-Elect Homer Adkins was unable to attend Monday as scheduled.

Ed I. Newblock, Tulsa, Okla., is the bench show judge; and the Rev. Ben Joyner, Cotton Valley, La., is master of hounds.

Draftees Are Rated on Learning Ability By Test

One of a series taking a draftee into Uncle Sam's new army

By MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — John Q. Citizen drafted into the army and spending a few testing days at an army reception center, early in his stay goes before an officer who acts as "interviewer."

He and perhaps 100 other men are to be submitted to an intelligence test. It provides a quick and reliable classification of men, according to their general capacity to learn. It does not profess to test such qualities as honesty, truthfulness, courage, etc.

Each man is handed a sheet. The test material is so arranged that a man may reply to questions by marking on an answer sheet.

The papers are later scored by an ingenious set of stencils, so that nothing is left to personal judgment. The scoring is practically automatic. One hour is usually allowed for this test. There is another set of test cards for illiterates or for men who speak only a foreign language.

The grade a man earns in these tests furnishes a fairly reliable index of his ability to learn; to think quickly and accurately; to analyze a situation; to maintain a state of mental alertness; and to comprehend and follow instructions.

Grades are as follows:
Grade 1—Very superior intelligence. This is earned by about seven in every 100. Indicates men of high officer type, if they also possess leadership and education.

Grade 2—Superior intelligence.

Grade 3—Average intelligence. About 38 out of 100 get this rating. This is good soldier material.

Grade 4—Inferior intelligence. About 24 in 100 get this rating.

Grade 5—Very inferior intelligence. About seven in 100 get this rating. The mentality of this group justifies their recommendation for observation, for special labor assignments or even for their discharge.

Nominees Cast Votes Shortly Before Noon

State Poll Above Normal; GOP Chairman Charges Irregularities

By the Associated Press
A band of rainfall moved eastward across the central states this election day, stirring the speculation forecasts of a record vote of almost 50,000,000 might not be realized, but of lifting rain threats and heavy voting came from other areas.

Wendell Willkie, "Lawyer" was among the millions who cast a ballot before noon. Entering the polling place at a public school in New York City, he said in response to a question that he was going to vote a "straight Republican" ticket.

A poll of five Hope voting precincts at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon showed a total of 903 votes cast. This is considered unusually large for national election.
Vote by wards:
Ward 1	275
Ward 2	183
Ward 3	143
Ward 4	85
County Box 5 and 6	217
Total	903

President Roosevelt cast his vote shortly after noon in the white frame town hall of Hyde Park village.

First returns from the Presidential balloting came from New England and the south. First in nation to record the vote was the little town of Sharon, N. H., which tabulated 24 votes for Willkie and seven for Roosevelt.

Another New Hampshire community, Hart's Location, counted three for Willkie and five for Roosevelt. Among early reporters were Nubush, N. C., which gave all of its 24 registered votes to Roosevelt.

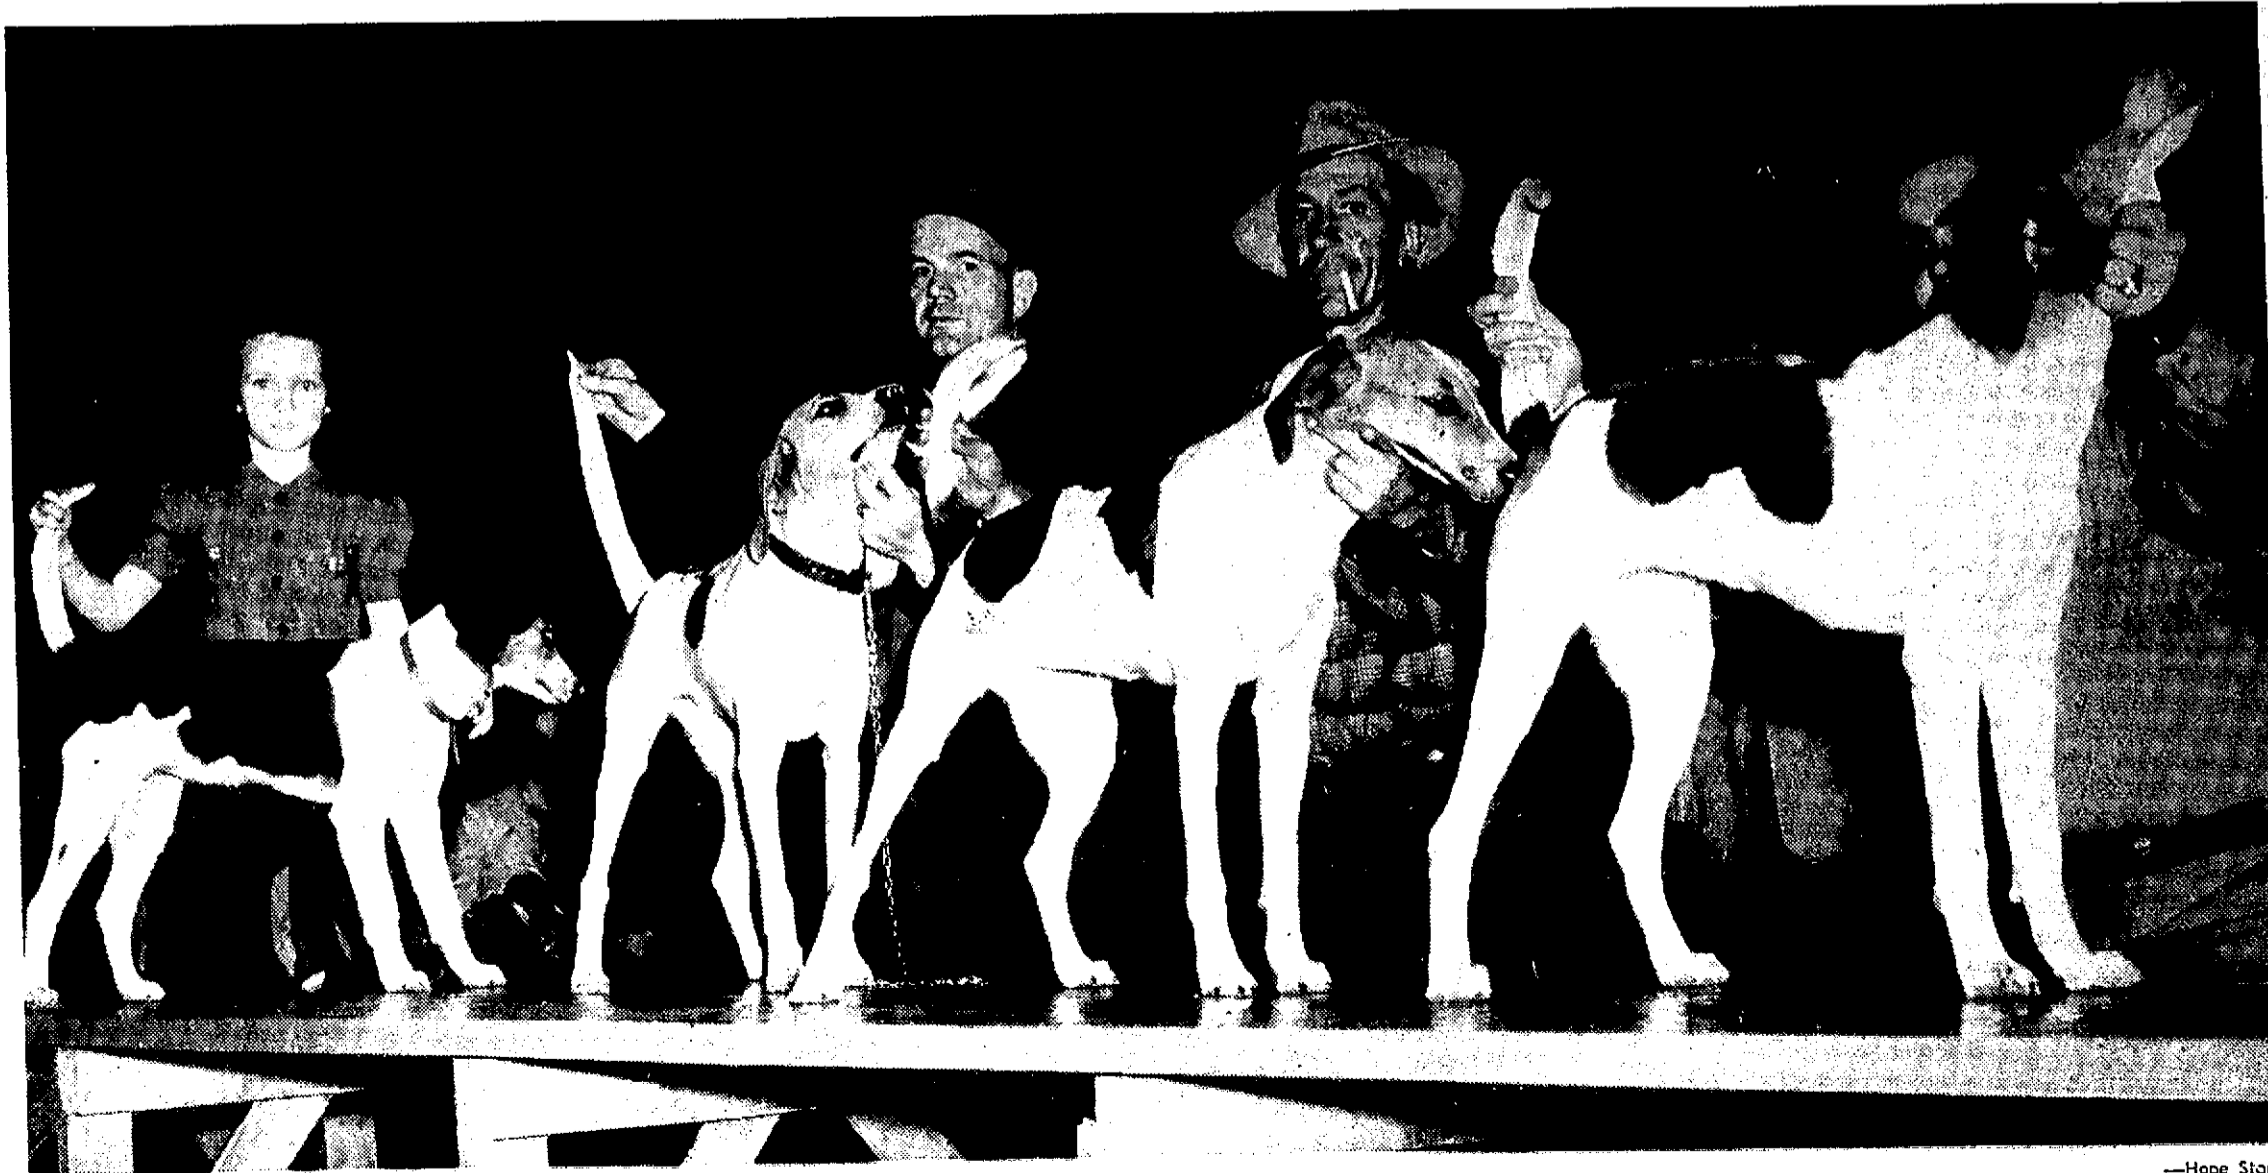

In the deep south, Alabama's first county absentee ballots gave the President 660 votes and the Republican nominee five.

In Missouri, Willkie jumped into an early lead over Roosevelt on the basis of the first unofficial returns.

SERIAL STORY

GOAL TO GO

BY W. H. PEARS

YESTERDAY, BILL MENTOR stretched his weary, high school team line to Benton, O. O. With a chance to score, Coach Landis called a spectacular rush—end, left, even Helen's line fails to cheer Bill up. At home, he reviews the game with his father, Buck. The former coach admits Landis was grandstander, wishes he could coach the team.

CHAPTER II

BILL MENTOR eased his hard young body into patched pajamas. For a moment he stood listening to Buck toss restlessly in the next room. Then, frowning, he drew from the dresser drawer a packet of yellowed clippings. Some were nearly 20 years old, but he studied them eagerly as if he didn't know every word by heart.

"BUCK MENTOR PICKED FOR ALL-AMERICA," "BUCK MENTOR STARS IN SEASON'S UP-SET," "BUCK MENTOR TO COACH ALL-STAR."

A warm glow spread up through Bill. His dad! It was something for a fellow to live up to, all right.

Slowly, indignation replaced his pride. Those rumbles on the board had turned down Buck without an interview. J. Conrad Skelton had written a letter. It would be bad for the team's morale to have an invalid coach, he thought, but if an opening occurred later . . .

Bill gave a scornful snort. Any dope could put the squad through grass drills and stuff like that. It was brains that counted. And there wasn't a fellow on the team, except maybe Bullethead Peskin, who wouldn't fight for Buck.

The last clipping was two years old, but still a fresh sorrow in Bill's mind. He reread the comment of a widely known sports columnist:

" . . . today the driving steel legs of Buck Mentor are still, still because he saved a little Italian workman whose name he didn't even know, from death under a falling beam. We salute you, Buck Mentor, All-American guy. . . "

Bill remembered those weeks of running from school to the hospital and finally how the doctor had broken the news to him: "With canes, your father can walk a little, son, but your job is to keep him quiet. In a year or so I'd like him to go east and see a famous friend of mine. If anyone can operate successfully on Buck, he can."

With Bill's job and Buck's savings they managed to get along, but now, two years later, Bill realized that Buck's operation was farther away than ever. Slowly the boy replaced the clippings, unashamed of the tears that burned his eyes.

WHEN Bill awakened, Buck had breakfast ready.

"Sausages," Bill said, smacking his lips. "You should have called me sooner."

"Nothing doing, fellow. Sunday's your morning to sleep in."

Bill finished eating and unfolded the Sunday paper. "Jumping Jacob, Buck, get this!"

The older man read aloud: "Coach Landis defended his boys, but admitted the wrong play had been called."

"What do you think of that?" Bill gasped.

"Maybe it's true, Bill. Maybe Calvert did blunder."

"If Landis didn't order the play, why did he replace Peskin?" Bill demanded.

Buck said thoughtfully, "If that's true, Landis has managed rather capably to duck the blame." Bill's black eyes smoldered. "Gee, what a dirty trick! I'll bet those guys won't take it lying down."

"I'm afraid it won't give them too much confidence in Landis."

Sammy Baugh Is the Best

Now Hailed As the Greatest Passer in Football

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Service Sports Editor
WASHINGTON — Samuel Adrian Baugh is making his fourth season in professional football his biggest.

The Texas Christian product has pitched the Washington Redskins into the money game's No. 1 position in both standing and attendance. The braves from the banks of the Potomac went into the Pittsburgh party with six straight victories... the only unbeaten club in the National League.

Samuel Baugh, in college and out—including the first half dozen games this year—completed 546 of 1125 forwards for a total yardage of 7654, or just 14 yards more than four miles.

Football men see in Sammy Baugh's performance a combination of sheer skill and imagination. The tricks he does to fake defenders out of position are remarkable to witness.

A good enough infidel to try out with the St. Louis Cardinals, he handles a football like a baseball... better than any other man in the pigskin parade.

Such an authority as Dutch Clark, of the Cleveland Rams and such brilliant passers as Benny Friedman and Harry Newman, who starred in pro football as passers after writing history at Michigan, consider Sammy Baugh the greatest passer of all time.

Baugh brought into football all of baseball's pitching and catching moves to the bases. He has a change of pace.

When the six-foot, three-inch Texan fakes a throw, before pulling the ball back for his real toss, the defense usually becomes confused, not to mention hysterical. The defense never knows where he is going to hurl the ball, for Sweet Sammy of Sweetwater never first looks in the direction of the receiver who is to get the pass.

Baugh's running ability enhances his value as a passer. When Slingin' Sam starts out as if to pass, then changes into a run, and back to motions as if to pass, the defense frequently is scattered all over the lot.

Baugh is one of the nighty few backs who throws accurately while running. He does not have to come to a stop and set himself.

If his receivers are covered, he often has a wide opening for a run.

Amazing Quick Kicker's Punt
Average 48 Yards

Baugh's punting average at the moment is 48 yards from the line of scrimmage... the highest in the National League. He surprised the Detroit Lions with four quick kicks for 65, 68, 67 and 64 yards. His punts travel on a low trajectory. His accuracy is almost unbelievable.

Baugh is an excellent blocker and a stout defender. He has taken his place among the all-time greats as an all-round performer, but it is his amazing passing that will live in years to come.

"Mike every pass so the ball will hit the receiver in the eye if he doesn't catch it," Coach Dutch Meyer once told the peerless pitcher at Texas Christian.

"Which eye?" asked Samuel Adrian Baugh.

World Full of Sinners

By NORMAN CHANDLER

Chairman, Newspaper Publishers Committee

NORMAN CHANDLER

PERHAPS it is too bad—and then again maybe it is good—that we human beings have to watch each other.

If this world were full of saints, the dreams of all our idealists would be silly, for how could we move onward and upward from perfection?

But let's not waste time on that "if." You and I know the world's weaknesses, its human struggles, its unsatisfied wants. There's room enough yet for a lot of progress!

Here in America we do a very good job of watching each other. Let a public official err and his sins are promptly pointed out by his opponents. Let a citizen do a good or a bad deed and, if it touches our lives, it is duly recorded.

And if a merchant or a manufacturer has a good product, he proudly tells us. If he hasn't a good product, you can depend on it, his competitors will lose no time in getting their own advantages spread around.

In this way you and I get all the facts and the warnings and the cheerings which equip us to protect ourselves.

Knowing what is going on enables us to complex world. Only through the medium of the newspapers can we possibly keep up with what is actually going on. In this very issue of this newspaper, if you'll look, you can see all the world full of sinners and an occasional saint, reported with surprising accuracy.

Perhaps the accuracy is due to the fact that the papers watch each other, but that's a safeguard, too.

I want to remind you, though, that I'm speaking of American newspapers. If we had a dictator who did all the watching, you can be pretty sure that he'd be watching the other fellow and not himself.

The sins of others and the saintliness of himself and his satellites would make up the content of the papers in this country.

And so, in a sinful world, about the only safeguard for liberty we have is the privilege of watching each other.

And the man who values his democratic right to punish bad government and penalize faltering business will fight for his right to our kind of newspapers.

However, the bright side is that he wants to reward good government and sound business—and the same newspapers bring him the list of saints also.

NOTE: The purpose of these regular Tuesday Institutional advertisements is to make American life and American business better. Your suggestions, criticisms or reactions will be appreciated by the Newspaper Publishers Committee and its chairman. Address the committee in care of the Business Office of this paper.

Heavy Vote for State. Despite overcast skies with showers in some sections and fewer eligible voters, Arkansans went to the polls Tuesday in above normal numbers. The turn-out caused observers to revise upwards the pre-election estimates that only about 165,000 or 275,371 eligibles would vote. At Little Rock nearly 5,000 votes had been cast by noon and nearly all precincts reported a steady stream of voters coming in. Fort Smith reported the vote only slightly below the 'turnout for this year's Democratic primary when the election was high. Osro Cobb, State Republican Chairman, charged that election irregularities were being permitted in two counties. He said that he was informed that the name of the Republican candidate for Governor, Harley Stump, of Stuttgart, had been left off of some ballots in Monroe county and that "Republicans were not being allowed to vote" in Madison county.

Hitler Peace Offer Rumored

Would Leave Britain Sea. Germany the Continent

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Reports circulated in diplomatic quarters Thursday night that Adolf Hitler was planning "within the next day or two" to present the terms on which Germany would end the European war. One version was that Hitler would make a "peace address," which presumably would set forth Germany's terms, before a special session of the Reichstag. Asked about the report, State Department officials said they had no official information but that they had heard "a rumor." Hitler planned an address on peace to the German people. They said the State Department had not already received Germany's proposed peace terms, as some London newspapers reported. The London Sunday Dispatch said Hitler had dispatched "peace terms" to Washington through the American embassy in Paris. These terms were said to be that the "undefeated and unconquered British empire" should remain intact and that Germany should assume domination over all continental Europe.

Defense Has Its Chuckles

William S. Knudsen Watches Plane Take-off

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—The weller of defense activity is not without its chuckles. For example—A friend had gone to the airport the other night to see his sister-in-law off. The plane taxied down the runway, turned, rushed back up the field and skidded into the air. My friend had started to leave when a hulking fellow stepped out of the shadows and stopped him. "Where was that plane headed for?" he asked. The friend explained but asked why the question. The big man said: "Oh I don't know. I just wondered. It was a good take-off. One of the best." "Do you mean to tell me," asked my friend, "that you haven't anything better to do than stand around here and watch the planes take off and land?" The man said: "I don't see anything wrong with that." And dropping into a conversational tone, he talked for minutes on the beauty of planes winging into the airport and off into the night. Finally he started to leave. My friend said: "Well, goodnight Mr. Knudsen." Regular meetings of the Board of Review have been held on the first Monday of each month. This year you have had a regular monthly meeting of your district, and this has done much to keep each troop functioning. "Every troop in Hempstead County was represented at the Boy Scout Circus in Texarkana on May 4 and 5. Several Scouts were in Camp Pioneer near Mena, Arkansas, from June 4 to June 13. The big event of the summer in Hempstead County Scouting was the Arkansas Scout Rally Day held at the Experiment Station on August 15. The Hempstead County Scouts and Scouters were hosts to the boys and men of Scouting from Sevier, Howard, Little River, Lafayette, and Nevada Counties. This Arkansas Scout Rally Day will be an annual affair because of the success held this year. "As you know, there is always a need for adult leadership in the Boy Scout movement, and Hempstead County is no exception in this rule. A Scouters' training school was completed just two weeks ago, with thirteen men receiving certificates for the course. Each of these men is now eligible for a job in Scouting, either as a Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmaster, Troop Committeeman, or Merit Badge Counselor. "Under your fine leadership as chairman of the Hempstead District, Scouting has progressed in Hempstead county this year; and we are now looking to greater things in the year to come. "With best wishes for a continuous Scouting program, I am Sincerely "Burr Blodgett "Field Executive "Boy Scouts of America"

Hitler Peace Offer Rumored

Would Leave Britain Sea. Germany the Continent

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Reports circulated in diplomatic quarters Thursday night that Adolf Hitler was planning "within the next day or two" to present the terms on which Germany would end the European war. One version was that Hitler would make a "peace address," which presumably would set forth Germany's terms, before a special session of the Reichstag. Asked about the report, State Department officials said they had no official information but that they had heard "a rumor." Hitler planned an address on peace to the German people. They said the State Department had not already received Germany's proposed peace terms, as some London newspapers reported. The London Sunday Dispatch said Hitler had dispatched "peace terms" to Washington through the American embassy in Paris. These terms were said to be that the "undefeated and unconquered British empire" should remain intact and that Germany should assume domination over all continental Europe.

William S. Knudsen Watches Plane Take-off

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON—The weller of defense activity is not without its chuckles. For example—A friend had gone to the airport the other night to see his sister-in-law off. The plane taxied down the runway, turned, rushed back up the field and skidded into the air. My friend had started to leave when a hulking fellow stepped out of the shadows and stopped him. "Where was that plane headed for?" he asked. The friend explained but asked why the question. The big man said: "Oh I don't know. I just wondered. It was a good take-off. One of the best." "Do you mean to tell me," asked my friend, "that you haven't anything better to do than stand around here and watch the planes take off and land?" The man said: "I don't see anything wrong with that." And dropping into a conversational tone, he talked for minutes on the beauty of planes winging into the airport and off into the night. Finally he started to leave. My friend said: "Well, goodnight Mr. Knudsen." And it was, too—William S.—who may be defense production chief when he's keeping those long hours at headquarters in the Federal Reserve building, but is just another landing-takeoff kibitzer at the airport when he's relaxing. Writers Must Write? He came in to fix my type-writer. He may have been 30. He looked husky enough. We talked of selective service. "Funny thing," he said. "I did my stretch in the Navy—six years of it—and then stuck on in the naval reserve. When they called up the reserve the other day, I thought I'd better go down to headquarters and find out what it was all about. I went and they asked me a lot of questions. Finally, they said, 'What
